Synthetic Card Payment Rules & Fee Policy

Purpose: This document is intentionally synthetic and is designed for a RAG-based payment AI agent project. It does not represent any real bank, card issuer, network, or regulatory policy.

Policy Version: 1.0 Currency: INR Effective Date: 01-Jan-2026

1. Card Types

Card Type	Description	Typical Credit Behaviour
Prepaid Card	Funds must be loaded before spending.	Spend up to available balance.
Revolving Card	Credit facility where outstanding balance can revolve.	Spend up to available credit limit.
Charge Card	Transactions are accumulated for periodic settlement.	No revolving balance; amount due is payable in full.

2. Transaction Rules

Transaction Type	Prepaid	Revolving	Charge
POS Purchase	Allowed	Allowed	Allowed
E-commerce Purchase	Allowed	Allowed	Allowed
ATM Cash Withdrawal	Allowed	Allowed	Not Allowed
International Purchase	Not Allowed	Allowed	Allowed
International ATM Withdrawal	Not Allowed	Allowed	Not Allowed
Refund	Allowed	Allowed	Allowed
Card-to-Card Transfer	Not Allowed	Not Allowed	Not Allowed

3. Fee Rules

Fee	Prepaid	Revolving	Charge
POS Purchase Fee	■0	■0	■0
ATM Withdrawal Fee	■20	2% of amount	N/A
International Transaction Fee	N/A	3% of amount	2.5% of amount
Refund Processing Fee	■0	■50	■50
Failed Transaction Fee	■10	■25	■25

4. Transaction Validation Rules

R1 — Card Status: A transaction is allowed only when the card status is ACTIVE.

R2 — Prepaid Balance: A prepaid transaction is allowed only when available balance is greater than or equal to transaction amount plus applicable fee.

R3 — Revolving Credit: A revolving-card transaction is allowed only when available credit is greater than or equal to transaction amount plus applicable fee.

R4 — Charge Card: Charge-card transactions are allowed only when the card is ACTIVE and the transaction type is permitted.

R5 — Transaction Type: The transaction type must be permitted for the card type according to Section 2.

R6 — Currency: Domestic transactions use INR. International transactions may use another currency but incur the applicable international transaction fee.

R7 — Refund: A refund cannot exceed the original transaction amount.

R8 — Duplicate Transaction: A transaction with an already-used transaction reference must be treated as a duplicate and must not be processed again.

5. Fee Calculation Rules

Percentage fee: Fee = Transaction Amount × Fee Percentage.

Fixed fee: Fee = Fixed Fee Amount.

Total amount for prepaid authorization: Transaction Amount + Applicable Fee must not exceed available balance.

Total credit usage for revolving authorization: Transaction Amount + Applicable Fee must not exceed available credit.

Example: A ■5,000 revolving-card international purchase has a 3% international fee. Fee = ■5,000 × 3% = ■150. Total = ■5,150.

Example: A ■5,000 prepaid ATM withdrawal has a fixed ■20 fee. Required balance = ■5,020.

6. Decline Reasons

Code	Reason	Description
D01	CARD_INACTIVE	Card is blocked, expired, or otherwise not ACTIVE.
D02	TRANSACTION_NOT_ALLOWED	Transaction type is not permitted for the card type.
D03	INSUFFICIENT_BALANCE	Prepaid available balance is insufficient.
D04	INSUFFICIENT_CREDIT	Revolving available credit is insufficient.
D05	REFUND_EXCEEDS_ORIGINAL	Refund amount exceeds original transaction amount.
D06	DUPLICATE_TRANSACTION	Transaction reference was already processed.

7. RAG Test Questions

• Is an ATM withdrawal allowed on a prepaid card?

• What fee applies to a ■10,000 international purchase on a revolving card?

• Can a charge card be used for an ATM withdrawal?

• What minimum prepaid balance is required for a ■5,000 ATM withdrawal?

• What happens when a revolving card does not have enough available credit?

• What fee applies to a ■2,000 refund on a revolving card?

• Can an international ATM withdrawal be performed using a charge card?

• What are the possible decline reasons for a transaction?

Important: Treat this document as synthetic test data. For a production system, rules would need to come from authoritative issuer/product/network documentation and applicable regulations.